FRIDAY JANUARY 18, 2019

UD in the News Jan. 1-18

Four University of Dayton faculty shared their expertise worldwide the first half of January via The Conversation, an international news outlet that features articles by academics, while others were interviewed by The Associated Press, National Catholic Reporter and Education Dive.

OhioENGINEER included a brief about the School of Engineering's hands-on learning opportunities in its annual year-end higher education roundup plus Forbes mentioned how the "University of Dayton empowers faculty to infuse entrepreneurially minded learning into courses" in its story "Training Engineers To Spot Opportunity And Impact."

Teen Kids News picked up sustainability and energy coordinator Matthew Worsham's comments to Live Science about keys to effective composting.

Locally, media covered the next steps in the onMain development and UD's involvement in new workforce development programs serving recovering addicts, and interviewed political science experts about Ohio Gov. John Kasich's legacy and U.S. Sen. Sherrod Brown running for president in 2020.

A sample of the news coverage during the first half of January is below, and you can click here to view links to all of the University's media coverage during January.
